

Grammar Triangle 1_Audio Script

Student Book

[Track 01]

M: Grammar Triangle

W: Book 1

M: Copyright Happy House, 2015. Published and produced by Happy House. All rights reserved.

[Track 02]

M: Unit 1

W: page 10, Grammar in Reading

M: A Dog Named Blue

A kind boy lives in a small town.

The boy's name is Mel.

Mel has a small, cute dog.

The dog's name is Blue because his fur is blue!

On a hot day, Blue is hungry.

He wants a cool treat.

He jumps up and barks at Mel.

Mel goes to the store near his house.

He buys an ice cream sandwich.

Mel hides the ice cream sandwich in the living room.

"Find the treat!" says Mel.

Blue looks under a chair.

The ice cream is melted!

[Track 03]

M: Unit 2

W: page 14, Grammar in Reading

W: Wild and Tame Animals

Some animals are wild. Some animals are tame.
Wild animals, like foxes, live away from humans.
They find their food and make their homes in nature.
We enjoy watching wild ostriches, giraffes, and wolves.

Do you have any tame animals at home?
Dogs, cats, and some birds are tame animals.
Other tame animals are horses, cows, and pigs.
They live on farms. They are useful for humans.

Some wild animals are tame now.
American Indians hunted buffaloes a long time ago.
Now buffaloes live on ranches.
People make buffalo coats and hamburgers.
Animals are very important to our lives.

[Track 04]

M: Unit 3

W: page 18, Grammar in Reading

M: We Are Having Fun

Tina and Sue are bored.
Sue sees Mark in the park. He is hopping on one leg.
Tim is there too. They are playing hopscotch.
"Let's join Mark and Tim," says Sue.

"Can you show us how to play?" asks Tina.
"Sure!" says Tim. "First, you throw a rock into a square."
Tina throws the rock. It lands in the middle of a square.
"Now you hop on one leg.
Pick up the rock, but stay on one leg!" says Mark.

"It is hard!" says Tina.
She falls over. They all laugh.
"Now we are having fun," says Sue.

[Track 05]

M: Unit 4

W: page 22, Grammar in Reading

W: These Are Onions

"Let's make salsa," says Sara.
"What do we need?" asks Mike.
"These are onions and tomatoes," says Sara.
"We chop them into small pieces."

"Mike, get those peppers over there," says Sara.
"These red peppers?" asks Mike.
"NO! Those are really hot," says Sara.
"Chop those green peppers. Mix everything in this bowl."

"How do we eat it?" asks Mike. "With our hands?"
"No, silly," says Sara. "We eat it with these chips."
"Oh," says Mike. "This is really good!"

[Track 06]

M: Unit 5

W: page 26, Grammar in Reading

M: We Are Not Cold

In spring, Emily is happy. She walks in the rain.
"Rain is good for flowers. They grow everywhere!" she says.
Summer comes next. Max and Jill are not happy.
"We are hot and sticky," they say.
"Go swimming," says their dad. Now they are happy.
Autumn comes next. Mary likes the autumn sky.
It is deep and blue.
In winter, Mel and Mark play in the snow.

"We are not cold because we are busy," they say.
They make a snow fort. "I am the king of this fort!" says Mel.
"No, you are not!" says Mark.
Now the boys have a snowball fight.

[Track 07]

M: Unit 6

W: page 30, Grammar in Reading

W: Is She a Scientist?

Today, Jenny goes with her dad to his work.
Jenny's dad is an engineer. His company makes robots.
She points to some machines in the factory.
"Are they robots?" asks Jenny.
"Yes, they are," says Jenny's dad.

Jenny meets the factory's owner.
"Are you the boss?" asks Jenny.
"Yes, I am," says Mr. Harbo.
"Do you see that woman there?" he asks.
"Yes. Is she a scientist?" asks Jenny.
"Yes, she is," says Mr. Harbo.
"Maybe you can be a scientist, too."

[Track 08]

M: Unit 7

W: page 34, Grammar in Reading

M: It Is Sunday!

Lisa wakes up. "Oh, I'm late!" she says.
"John, wake up!"
"What time is it?" asks her brother John.
"It is eight thirty," says Lisa.

John is very nervous. "We are late!"
"What is that noise?" he asks.

John and Lisa look outside. It is rainy.
They look at each other. "Oh, no!"

"Mom!" shouts Lisa. "Please help us!"
"We are late for school!" shouts John.
"Kids!" says Mom. "Are you serious?"
It is Sunday. You can go back to bed."

[Track 09]

M: Unit 8

W: page 38, Grammar in Reading

M: Is There Life in Space?

Is there other life in our solar system?
There are eight planets in the solar system.
They move around the sun.
We live on the third planet Earth.
There is water, air, and land on Earth.
So, there is life on Earth.

Scientists don't think there is life on the other planets.
They are too hot, or too cold.
However, there are many moons in the solar system.
For example, Jupiter has 63 moons!
One of these moons is Europa.
Scientists think there is an ocean on Europa.
Who knows? Maybe there are creatures in this ocean!

[Track 10]

M: Unit 9

W: page 42, Grammar in Reading

W: A Little Girl's Strange Dream

Goldilocks walks in the woods.
She sees a small house. It has a yellow roof.
"This is a pretty house," she thinks.

She goes inside and finds a big table.
There are three large bowls filled with ice cream!
Now Goldilocks is a very happy girl.
She eats all the sweet ice cream.

"Now I'm tired," says Goldilocks.
She goes upstairs and finds a soft bed.
She falls asleep and has a strange dream.
In her dream, three big bears come inside the house.
They are surprised to see a little girl in their bedroom!

[Track 11]

M: Unit 10

W: page 46, Grammar in Reading

M: Mr. Ant Is Busy

Mr. Grasshopper is happy.
He likes to sing and dance.
"Come dance with me, Mr. Ant," says Mr. Grasshopper.
Mr. Ant is busy. He works hard.
"This food is heavy. I must carry it home," says Mr. Ant.
"You should find food, too. Winter is coming."
"Later!" says Mr. Grasshopper. "It is summer now."

Winter comes and it snows.
Mr. Grasshopper is hungry. He has no food.
He goes to Mr. Ant's home.
"Please give me some food," Mr. Grasshopper begs.
"I am so hungry."
What will Mr. Ant do?

[Track 12]

M: Unit 11

W: page 50, Grammar in Reading

W: Koreans Have Kimchi

Each country has its own special food.

Koreans have kimchi. It is healthy and spicy.

Italians have spaghetti. It is long and fun to eat.

Mexicans have tacos and burritos. They are delicious.

Some food travels from one country to another.

Americans have pizza. It is from Italy.

Traditional Italian pizza only has a few toppings.

American pizza has many toppings.

Today, we eat food from many different countries.

We have many different restaurants in our neighborhoods.

Each food has different tastes.

[Track 13]

M: Unit 12

W: page 54, Grammar in Reading

M: Chocolate Doesn't Have Vitamins

"I love chocolate," says Tom. "It's sweet."

"Chocolate doesn't have vitamins," says Julie.

"It's not good for you. It makes you fat."

"I don't have any fat on my body," says Tom.

"Eat a lot of chocolate, then you will have some fat." says Julie.

"Chocolate also gives you pimples."

"Pimples!" says Tom. "But I don't have pimples!"

"Eat a lot of chocolate, then you will," says Julie.

"What about cake and candy?" asks Tom.

"They also don't have vitamins," says Julie.

"You can eat a little of those foods, but try not to eat a lot."

They don't make your body strong."

[Track 14]

M: Unit 13

W: page 58, Grammar in Reading

W: Do We Have Any Eggs?

Easter is coming. Kids paint eggs for the holiday.

"Do we have any eggs?" asks Tina.

"Yes, we do," says Rick. "But they are not boiled eggs."

"Mom, do you have any boiled eggs?" asks Tina.

"Yes, there are some boiled eggs in the basket," says Mom.

"Do we have any paintbrushes?" asks Tina.

"No, we don't," says Rick. "Ask Jenny for a paintbrush."

"Does she have paint, too?" asks Tina.

"I think so," says Rick.

"Oh, does she have green paint?" asks Tina.

"I want to paint my egg green and purple!"

[Track 15]

M: Unit 14

W: page 62, Grammar in Reading

M: Robots Can Do Many Things

Robots can do many things.

Humans can't do those things.

Robots can work for a long time without food or rest.

Humans can't lift really heavy things. But robots can!

Robots can even explore planets like Mars and Saturn.

However, robots need humans.

Humans can think and be creative.

Robots can't have new ideas.

Robots can't have feelings, either.

Humans can make better robots.

Humans control robots.

Can robots control humans?

Thank goodness, they can't!

[Track 16]

M: Unit 15

W: page 66, Grammar in Reading

W: Who Are Those People?

"Welcome to the desert," says an old cowboy.

"Who are you?" asks Chris.

"I am Hank, your tour guide," says the cowboy.

"What is that funny looking tree?" asks Chris.

"That's a saguaro," says Hank.

"It's not a tree. It's a cactus. It can grow very tall."

"Who are those people?" asks Chris.

"They are Native Americans," says Hank.

"What are those long sticks they have?" asks Chris.

"Do you see the red fruit on top of the saguaro?" asks Hank.

"The natives get the fruit with the sticks.

They make food and sweet candy from the fruit."

[Track 17]

M: Unit 16

W: page 70, Grammar in Reading

M: How Old Is Your Brother?

"Here is a picture of my family," says Bob.

"Your younger sister is very tall.

How tall is she?" asks Sally.

"She is 130 centimeters tall," says Bob.

"How old is your brother?" asks Sally.

"He is 15 years old," says Bob.

"How are your parents?" asks Sally.

"They are nice," says Bob. "They love us very much."

"How big is your family?" asks Bob.

"My family is not big," says Sally.

"I don't have any brothers or sisters.

It's just me, my mom, and my dad.

Oh, and I have a kitten. Her name is Lucy!"

[Track 18] Ending

M: This is the end of Grammar Triangle Book 1. Study more with Grammar Triangle Book 2.

B/G: Good-Bye!